TIDEPOL WOMAN

"Tidepool Woman was created to feature the diversity of marine life found in the intertidal zone along the central California coast. Loveable, squishy, friends include the Opalescent Nudibranch, Tidepool Sculpin, Porcelain Crab, Rock Gunnel, Six-armed Star, Pacific Red Octopus, scattered amongst Feather Boa Kelp and Surfgrass. Her eyes are filled with the mesmerizing tentacles of a Sunburst Anemone. I hope this piece inspires people to explore the tidepools at the edge of our coast, and to support environmental organizations that work hard to protect and preserve this precious marine habitat." - Andrea Dingeldein, ArtWorks @Pacific Grove Artist

"Inspired by Bocaccio's Decameron, penned under 14th century plague quarantine, as a testament to human resilience, the Salinas Valley Arts & Innovation Hub's #ArtInPlace Project encourages you to seek clarity in this moment of crisis, through the arts. The #ArtInPlace Project encourages participants to take at least fifteen minutes a day creating an original piece of art, for each day of the quarantine. Join us in staying grounded, staying safe, and staying creative with #ArtInPlace."
