

Dear Friends of the Arts,

Happy Spring! While the rain is always welcomed, the floods have been devastating to many of our residents, and we are sending positive wishes for their safety and recovery.

As you'll see below, we still have lots of grants and scholarships to award over the next two months, for artists, arts organizations, nonprofits and high school seniors. Please check them out and let your friends and family know about these opportunities.

Tonight, we are having a fun pop-up event at Captain+Stoker in Monterey, to introduce the Arts Council to a new audience of art supporters - stop by if you have a chance - food, wine, live music and more!

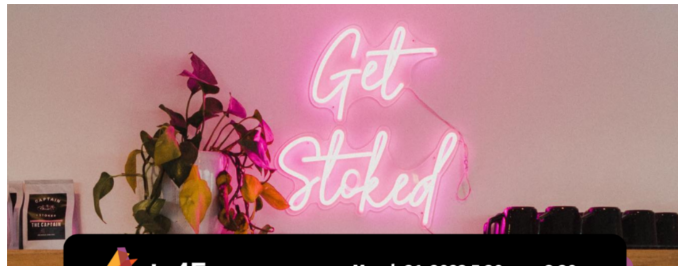

Enjoy your weekend!

Artist Spotlight

José G. Ortiz is an Illustrator, painter, sculptor, muralist. Considered a local "treasure" as a youth mentor and muralist, José has to his credit over sixty mobile and permanent mural projects throughout Monterey County. Ortiz is responsible as the founder for the painters' workforce movement of "Hijos del Sol," created in 1994 and transformed into a preparatory workshop and studio for illustrators, painters, sculptors, and writers. It now serves as a conservatory for this genre of work. Hijos del Sol Arts Productions is a longstanding, community-based program providing professional art instruction for children and youth of underserved neighborhoods, including many that are homeless or in foster care, and families seeking a fresh start in the U.S.

"Murals have an interconnectedness between all people, animals, plants and mother earth's ecosystems. Creating images that can bring people together is simple, when allowing the observer to realize that people, however different, are alike in the most important human values. I see murals as a way to connect, unify, and bring hope to all." - Jose G. Ortiz
